PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Today marks a very important phase in the development of soccer in Australia. It is essential that the Australian team is successful today in beating our visitors, the Republic of Korea National Team.

The team's loss against Iran recently shocked Australian soccer followers and placed our World Cup challenge in severe jeopardy. Today we have an opportunity of redeeming the situation, and I wish the Australian players every success in today's match.

Notwithstanding the importance of an Australian victory, it gives me a great deal of pleasure in welcoming to Australia our friends from the Republic of Korea. We have met in the World Cup competition in 1969 and 1973, and today we will again be doing battle to decide the outcome of today's match.

Outside the actual playing of the match, we have a very cordial and meaningful relationship with the Korean Football Association, and we have on several occasions enjoyed friendly visits to Seoul to play matches when our team has been participating in an Asian Tour. We have always been accorded remarkable hospitality and friendship when in Korea.

On behalf of all soccer enthusiasts in Australia, I extend a warm welcome to the delegation from Korea, and I hope that you all enjoy your stay in this country and we will endeavour to do all in our power to look after you and to further cement the warm bond of friendship which exists between the two Football Associations.
